

School-aged children with Developmental Language Disorder are invited to participate in free treatment studies that are designed to be fun & engaging

Signs of Language Disorder may include difficulty with:

- correct word order
- telling clear stories
- following directions
- learning new vocabulary
- word finding
- the little parts of language like prepositions, pronouns, am/is/are

Dependent on study & duration of participation, families can receive:

- Monetary compensation
- Language Assessment & Therapy
- Parent Coaching
- Books and materials for lessons
- Tech materials such as headphones
- A report detailing their participation
